

Global engine availability

Colored markers identify countries and territories from Excel. Categories indicate availability, rather than engines in operation.

Reading the map: schematic map with approximate land outlines. Colored marker = market listed in Excel; no marker = no source data. Red does not rule out privately imported vehicles. Smaller markets are enlarged on the next page.

Scope and method: the source lists 21 countries and territories, with one overall status for each market. The years 2011-2025 come from the filename; the workbook contains no annual time series. Puerto Rico is listed separately as a territory. Availability does not establish actual use in every vehicle.

The map locates markets approximately; land outlines are schematic. All engine, model and availability information comes exclusively from the attached Excel workbook.
